GOOGLE COMMITS $10K TO LEADERSHIP MOUNTAIN VIEW

Mountain View, CA – June 9, 2011 – The Chamber of Commerce Mountain View is pleased to announce that Google has committed to a $10K sponsorship for Leadership Mountain View. The funds are intended to provide an opportunity for a member of the community to attend the Leadership Mountain View program. The person selected will have demonstrated a financial need and will have been accepted into the upcoming 2011/2012 LMV program which begins on Sept. 16, 2011. Google will also have 3 of their employees participate in the LMV 2011/2012 program.

The Leadership Mountain View program strives to identify today's concerned community members, develop their leadership skills, and inspire them to be active and informed leaders in the community. Program Director for Leadership Mountain View, Alicia Crank says, "We are honored that Google is so graciously supporting Leadership Mountain View. We hope to have the opportunity to teach even more people about our amazing community and to continue our relationship with Google." Dan Hoffman, director of Real Estate and Workplace Services at Google, "We're pleased to support Leadership Mountain View in their mission to develop and connect leaders in our community."

Leadership Mountain View started in 1990 and has had over 420 community members participate in the program. A great deal of local business leaders, non-profit executives, and leaders in education have graduated from Leadership Mountain View. Many of our current city council members have gone through the program, as well as Sally Leiber, California State Assembly member, and other prominent California elected officials.
